DAWES' PLEDGE OF SUPPORT CLEARS PATH FOR HOOVER

JOHNSON, PINCHOT AND FRANCE LOOM AS IMPOTENT FACTORS

POSTMASTER GENERAL BROWN PREPARED HOOVER'S NAME IN STATE PRIMARIES

Washington, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Any thought that President Hoover can be discouraged from seeking reelection is regarded as groundless by his closest advisors.

Postmaster General Brown is preparing to attend to technical details

Chicago, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Ambassador Charles G. Dawes considers it insulting that anyone should even intimate he would swing his support from President Hoover "in any possible way or under any possible contingency."

Dawes' statement last night was clear enough—an optimistic declaration that he believes good times are coming back, and a pledge of his faith in President Hoover.

of entering the president's name in all state primaries where such action is required by law. If organized opposition to President Hoover should develop, it was learned, a "militant committee" will be organized to press the fight.

This latter action, Mr. Hoover's closest friends say, will be unnecessary. His path toward renomination, they believe, has been practically cleared, with the pledge of allegiance by Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, of Illinois. This spectacular figure emphatically removed himself as a potential obstacle of Mr. Hoover in a statement at Chicago, in which he asserted not only his loyalty but his admiration and confidence in Mr. Hoover's conduct of affairs.

One potential rival of importance remains in Senator Hiram Johnson of California. This veteran foe of Mr. Hoover has just been asked to enter the North Dakota presidential primaries by Senators Nye and Frazier of that state. However, it is regarded as doubtful whether he will consent. He must decide the North Dakota invitation by Jan. 22, when the primary filing period ends.

The only other potential opposition is from ex-Senator Joseph G. France of Maryland, and from Governor Clifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania. The former has declared himself a candidate but is regarded as having little chance. The latter, though having much stronger following, has given no indications of his plans.

Dawes was the only possible opponent regarded as having serious possibilities. Numerous Illinois republicans have said he could carry the state against Hoover in a primary fight, and his popularity extended into Ohio, Indiana, and other important states. His resignation announcement provoked political speculation because of the absence of any commitment to Mr. Hoover.

Administration friends here became concerned over speculation in favor of Dawes as the result of this omission and became anxious to bring out such talk quickly. Whether they actually suggested to Dawes that he end this talk with the statement issued last night was not known. It is a fact, however, that close friends of Mr. Hoover were expecting such a statement a short time before it was made.

BOMB K. C. THEATER, JANITOR IS KILLED

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 12.—(UP)—The Midland theater, one of Kansas City's largest, was bombed last night. One man was killed in the explosion. It was the seventh theater bombing here in the last four months. Frank Alexander, negro janitor, was killed. It was believed the negro had found the package and was returning it to the office when it exploded in his hands.

The last show was just finished and the audience, all but a few stragglers, had left. None was injured. The explosion rocked the entire building and caused damage estimated at $1,000.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Benjamin Rosenberg, 46, proprietor of an independent cleaning and dyeing establishment, and a pamphleteer against corruption in his trade, was shot and killed by three men who attacked him near his home in Maywood last night. Rosenberg managed the International Cleaners and Dyers company which refused to employ union labor.

Champion Liar

Here is Orin W. Butts, 72-year-old champion liar of the world. And if you doubt his title, he has a medal won in the annual liar's contest at Burlington, Wis., to prove it. He lives in Bay City, Mich., and says constant practice was responsible for the victory.

TORNADOES SWEEP TEXAS TAKING TWO LIVES, RAZING HOMES

TWISTERS BRING HIGH WATERS AND RUINED CROPS TO SOUTHWEST

Eagle Lake, Texas, Jan. 12.—(UP)—High water and ruined crops today followed in the wake of tornadoes that claimed two lives and reduced to splinters many farm homes in southeast Texas.

The bodies of Veto Gyano, Mexican woman, and her small child were found 100 yards from their flattened home. Eight Mexicans also were injured on the Herbert plantation in the storm's late Monday.

The first tornado descended to earth near the Colorado river and swept in a northeasterly direction. The second twister struck on the farm of Grate Ramsey, near Hockley, about 40 miles north of Houston. Ramsey's house was demolished and his two small children were cut and bruised.

Frank Blazek, neighboring farmer, was severely shocked when the gale picked him up and dashed him against a tree. His home was destroyed, as were a number of others in the neighborhood.

FAMILY OF SIX DIE IN RANCH HOME FIRE

Myton, Utah, Jan. 12.—(UP)—An entire family of six was burned to death today when their isolated ranch home was destroyed by fire.

Apparently stunned by the force of an explosion in a stove, Mr. and Mrs. John Myler and their four children were unable to escape from the flames which reduced their residence to ashes.

Myler, partly dressed, was lying on a bed alongside his wife. The four children never left their beds. James Sweat, a neighbor, saw smoke and flames issuing from the house. He summoned other neighbors and rushed to the rescue. When they arrived the roof was beginning to cave in. Rescue was impossible.

The bodies were taken from the house later. They were charred almost beyond recognition. It was apparent that the fire originated from an explosion caused when Myler attempted to start a fire in the stove with kerosene. The entire front of the stove was blown off and the impact of the detonation sent the young farmer back onto his bed.

Wisconsin Legislators Lives Threatened

Madison, Wis., Jan. 12.—(UP)—A detective stood guard in the gallery of the Wisconsin Senate today after four Senators had received letters threatening to "bump them off" because they did not vote for the LaFollette relief program.

Sergeant-at-Arms Emil Hartman asked the police protection and said the Senators who received the letters were George Blanchard, Edgerton; Henry B. Daggett, West Milwaukee; E. J. Riethe, Fennimore, and Walter S. Goodland, Racine.

Reconstruction Bill Awaits House Action

Washington, Jan. 12.—(UP)—President Hoover's financial relief program moved nearer completion today with adoption by the senate of the $200,000,000 reconstruction finance corporation bill.

A companion bill is being considered in the house, and it is hoped to have a completed measure adopted by both houses and sent to the president before the end of the week. Mr. Hoover, it is understood, is ready to set the credit wheels spinning on short notice, once the bill becomes law.

The vote in the senate, despite vocal opposition, was overwhelming—63 to 8. Those opposed were:

Democrats: Connally, Texas; Bulow, S. D.; Wheeler, Mont.; McGill, Kan.

Republicans: Blaine, Wis.; Norris, Neb.; Brookhart, Iowa; Bratton, N. M. Paired against the bill: McKellar, Tenn.; Black, Dem., Ala., and Thomas, Dem., Okla.

The vote was taken late last night after a 10-hour continuous session. Today the senate will take up the second phase of the Hoover program—the bill to extend $125,000,000 additional credit to federal land banks. This has been passed by the house.

A number of amendments to the credit corporation bill were rejected, and a number adopted. Among those rejected were:

1. Copeland amendment for credit to cities;

2. Shipstead amendment for loans to states for rural credit.

Those adopted were:

1. Added $50,000,000 of farm credit, to be administered by the department of agriculture;

2. Restricted loans to specified institutions, eliminating a "catch-all" phrase which would have enabled the new corporation to take over the business of the privately administered national credit corporation;

3. Prohibited loans for export of war materials;

4. Cut salaries of the four directors from $12,000 to $10,000 a year;

5. Required quarterly reports from corporations receiving loans;

6. Authorized federal reserve banks to act as fiscal agents as well as depositories for the corporation;

7. Forbade corporation directors to pass on loans to companies in which they are interested;

8. Authorized loans to help reopen closed banks;

9. Eliminated a direct appropriation of $500,000,000 for the corporation, thus requiring a second enactment to give it funds.

Defense Challenges Panel in Foshay Case

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 12.—(UP)—Defense attorneys for W. B. Foshay and H. H. Henley, former officers of the defunct W. B. Foshay Company, a $20,000,000 public utility concern, today challenged an entire panel of 102 prospective veniremen but were overruled at their trial on mail fraud charges.

St. Paul First National Reports Largest Gain

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 12.—(UP)—The largest profits ever made in one year, $1,401,000, were reported today for the past year by the First National Bank of St. Paul. The figures were revealed by George Prince, chairman of the First National board, at the annual meeting.

HUNDREDS WORK ON LEVEES AS RED CROSS AIDS FLOOD VICTIMS

RISE OF ANOTHER FOOT OF WATER LOOKED UPON AS CERTAIN DEVASTATION

Greenwood, Miss., Jan. 12.—(UP)—Red Cross workers took food, clothing and medicine into the North Mississippi flood area by motorboats today, seeking to alleviate suffering of hundreds of marooned families.

Red Cross officials said the situation remained serious, that in certain sections suffering was acute, and immediate attention to human needs was necessary to prevent starvation and sickness.

Meanwhile the flood danger centered in this section, south of the main overflow, as the Yalobusha and Tallahatchie rivers rolled in flood crest toward the Mississippi.

Hundreds of farmers and negro employees worked on the levees here, fearful that a rise of another foot would cause the barriers to crumble.

COLDER WEATHER TONIGHT'S FORECAST

Rain turning to snow to be followed by much colder weather was predicted for tonight and tomorrow by the United States weather bureau.

Southern Minnesota enjoyed temperatures considered mild for January as a south wind shoved the mercury up above the freezing point. Mild temperatures were common throughout the state with 28 degrees reported from Moorhead. Eastern North Dakota also had mild temperatures but much colder weather was reported from the western Dakotas.

RAIL UNION HEADS SEEK STABILIZATION AND JOBLESS RELIEF

DECISION ON WAGE CUT QUESTION TO BE REACHED AT MEET THIS WEEK

Chicago, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Problems of the nation's railroads and their workers will be discussed here this week in an unparalleled conference between capital and labor.

Fifteen hundred representatives of nearly 2,000,000 railway employees will confer with nine railway presidents representing interests controlling an estimated 98 per cent of the country's railroad lines. Each group will lay its problems before the meeting in the hope that a solution may be found to stabilize employment conditions in an industry ranked as vital to the nation's prosperity.

The executives indicated they will seek a general 15 per cent wage reduction. Representatives of 21 railway brotherhoods demand in return relief for the jobless, stabilization of employment and lessening of unemployment among rail workers. Union officials indicate if these ends are attained they will agree to a reduction of 10 per cent.

At a dinner yesterday, union heads discussed the condition of the railroads and their employees. David E. Robertson, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' association and president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, said of the proposed wage cut:

"Practically every railroad has served notice of its desire to reduce wages 15 per cent. If the presidents ask such a cut Thursday, our committee will give their final decision while we're in Chicago. Our original labor stabilization program is still our goal. Our primary problem is to seek assistance for our unemployed."

Donald Richberg, attorney for the unions, presented figures on railway unemployment.

"There are 400,000 railroad men not earning $20 a week and 600,000 not earning $30. Only about 300,000 are earning any more. It is preposterous to speak of wage cuts without mentioning unemployment."

"Thousands are working only three or four days a week. Of the 1,900,000 in the industry about 700,000 have lost their jobs."

FARM UNITS LAUNCH MOVE STRENGTHEN BOARD OPERATIONS

ASK THAT FARM BOARD BE EMPOWERED TO USE EQUALIZATION FEE SYSTEM

Washington, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Three powerful farm organizations today began an offensive in Congress for enactment of legislation to strengthen the farm board's machinery for handling surplus crops. They asked that the board be empowered to use the equalization fee or export debenture systems.

Adoption of these measures was urged on the House agricultural committee by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange; and J. A. A. Simpson, president of the Farmers' Co-operative Union.

O'Neal as spokesman for the three declared that farm organizations unanimously supported the program. He presented a resolution approved by the Farm Bureau, the Grange and the Farmers' Union. It called upon Congress to continue the agricultural marketing act under which the farm board operates and to amend it by inclusion of the debenture, the equalization fee "or any other method which will make it effective in controlling surpluses."

O'Neal said his organization favored the equalization fee especially but recognized the good points of the debenture plan and would support either or both.

Find Noted Scientist in Dazed Condition

Austin, Texas, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Dr. H. J. Muller, famous scientist on the University of Texas faculty, was found today in a dazed condition wandering through the wooded slopes of Mt. Bonnell where he was in the habit of seeking relaxation from his laboratory work.

The scientist who had been missing since he left his home Sunday, was rushed to Seton's infirmary.

Finding of the professor ended one of the greatest searches in this section as university students, citizens and peace officers beat through the cedar covered hills looking for him.

New York—Since the Floyd Bennett Field began passenger hopping on May 23, 1931, that airport has been plenty busy. During the period from that date to Oct. 31, its figures show that more than 18,000 passengers were carried by ships using the field

CABINET MEMBERS PROBE SITUATION OF HAWAII MURDER

HONOLULU CITIZENS DEMAND MARTIAL LAW AFTER "HONOR" SLAYING

Washington, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Orders directing the navy commandant at Honolulu to refuse to surrender Lieutenant Thomas Massie to the custody of civil authorities until official notice to do so is received from Washington were issued today by Secretary of Navy Adams.

Adams instructed Rear Admiral Yates Stirling, Jr., commandant of the Hawaiian naval district, to keep Massie, charged with the murder of a mixed blood native, under naval supervision.

Adams denied that Massie is being retained by the navy in order to secure a change of venue for the trial of the young naval officer and his three companions—Mrs. Granville Fortescue, A. O. Jones and E. J. Lord, enlisted men.

Massie has been reported as waiving his rights to a naval court martial.

The conflicts between naval and civil authorities regarding sex crimes in Hawaii was intensified when the governor of the islands branded as "malicious and exaggerated" the claims of navy officers that white women were not safe in Honolulu. Governor Lawrence Judd made his assertions in a cablegram to Victor S. K. Houston, territorial delegate.

The Honolulu situation reached into the White House today when it was considered at the meeting of President Hoover's cabinet.

TEACHERS, POLICE, FIREMEN HUNGRY AS CHICAGO'S PLIGHT BECOMES PRECARIOUS

(Copyright, 1932, by United Press) Chicago, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Seven thousand Chicago school teachers went without lunch today.

That is half the 14,000 men and women who teach in the city schools. The estimate is by board of education officials. They base it on answers to a questionnaire and knowledge of bitter facts that require no questionnaire.

The teachers went hungry at lunch time because they could not afford even soup and a roll. They have been paid for only six weeks in the last seven months they have taught.

Many of them will have scanty dinners tonight.

Thousands of policemen, firemen, librarians, truck drivers, inspectors, clerks and other municipal employees are in equally precarious plight. All work for the fourth largest, probably the third richest, city in the world. It cannot afford to pay their salaries.

For a week a United Press writer has been on the trail of the answer to that question. The quest has led through bulky municipal records, through interviews with officials, through conferences with bankers, through talks with bewildered school

Washington, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes today resigned as a member of the United States supreme court.

The resignation has been accepted. President Hoover announced the retirement of the patriarch of the American bench at noon today.

The aged justice, in a letter to Mr. Hoover, said he left the supreme court with deep regret, but that the condition of his health made his resignation necessary.

In a letter of acceptance, Mr. Hoover expressed appreciation for Holmes' long and honorable service on the bench. He knew of no American who had inspired such respect and devotion.

Had Labored Under Difficulty

Justice Holmes read his last opinion in the supreme court Monday. It was one upholding the legality of a conviction in a liquor case from Eureka, Calif., although it was shown that the defendant had not had possession of liquor himself. It was a particularly complicated case.

The justice appeared to be laboring under difficulty as he read the opinion. Court was delayed for three minutes at the opening while he was assisted to the bench. He read in a voice even louder and more firm than usual and those who heard him commented on the heroic figure he presented, his white mustache bristling and head shaking, as he emphasized his points.

The 90-year-old justice was in ill health for a long time last summer while the court was in recess. He suffered for a time with a severe cold in his New England home. But he recovered with a speed which caused comment from physicians who considered his age such as to make any illness serious.

Health Failed Fast

Since his return to Washington for the winter session of the court, it had been evident that his health was failing. He was given assistance frequently as he left his home for the court but he was at his work regularly.

Justice Brandeis has been with him much of the time recently. The two come and go from court together.

The president, in making public the resignation of Justice Holmes, personally read to newspapermen the following letter of resignation:

"Mr. President: "In accordance with the provision of the judicial code as amended section 360—the 28 United States code 375, I tender my resignation as justice of the supreme court of the United States of America. The condition of my health makes it a duty to break off connections that I can not leave without deep regret after the affectionate relation of many years and the absorbing interests that have filled my life. But the time has come and I bow to the inevitable. I have nothing but kindness to remember from you and from my brethren.

"My last word should be one of grateful thanks.

"With great respect, your obedient servant,

"Oliver Wendell Holmes."

Holmes, dean of the American bench, is the oldest man ever to sit on the supreme bench. He will be 92 next March 8.

He was the only surviving civil war veteran in high official life.

ma's, and slow-speaking policeman fathers of large families.

"It's the taxes," explained a school teacher, graduate of the University of Illinois, who made an "A" in an economics course there. "The city can not collect taxes and there is no money to pay us."

"It was because of the greed of them that sat in the saddle before as should never have been there," said a ruddy-cheeked, gray-haired traffic policeman whose five children probably know to whom he refers.

"There are many reasons. Perhaps there has been executive mismanagement, waste, inefficiency. It is hard to say," cautioned a banker.

"And there the problem rests. With $40,000,000,000 of assessed valuation, with $200,000,000,000 of tangible wealth, Chicago is penniless."

The special session of the state legislature, convened to solve Chicago's money problem, divides into Chicago and "down state" groups. Unless Cook county legislators agree to the state income tax that the downstaters want, it looks dark for Chicago relief bills. Meantime misery reigns in Chicago.

RUSSIAN ADVANCE NOT SPECTACULAR, ENGINEER REPORTS

CROSBY MINING MAN BACK FROM RUSSIA TALKS TO ROTARY HERE

Fred Uhler, Crosby mining engineer, discussed his experiences and conditions in Russia during his year and a half employment there, in a talk to the Brainerd Rotary club at noon today.

Uhler was employed for an American engineering company to develop iron mines in Russia.

"Russia is making headway in certain lines but will not reach the objective set forth in the Soviet five year plan. Living conditions in Russia are no better for the working class and worse for the middle class than before the communistic rule. Russia is drilling a standing army of more than ten million men but there is a great deal of inefficiency in its methods," he said. Reviewing the mineral possibilities of the country Uhler stated that while there is a vast amount of iron ore, it is not the quality of Minnesota ore and the expense of mining would not warrant the recovery of the same, the engineer stated.

Uhler was located east of the Ural range mountains in Siberia.

BUILDING MEN OF OUR BOYS--

There is an interesting story on the sports page of tonight's Daily Dispatch. It tells that there are 52 basketball teams organized from the fifth grade up, auguring well for the future of the cage sport at the high school.

To many, the fact that there are over a half hundred basketball teams in action at the high school does not mean much. They might not even be interested. But, the one fact that is outstanding and should arouse the interest of every parent not only of those who have children among this number but are rearing sons is that each and every boy is being given an equal chance to develop his physical being; to make a better man of the future.

This, in a nutshell, is mass competition. Mass competition carries a varied meaning. But, in this case it drives home the fact that your boy and my boy is being afforded and is being encouraged in the development of his physical system. The fact that he is playing basketball as a medium to realize this result is secondary to the paramount purpose of physical education.

It has not been so long ago that boys in grade and high school were afforded this opportunity. You and I never enjoyed it. We either had to make the squad for basketball, if we happened to attend a school that had the sport included in its curricula, or we were not given the opportunity of developing our physical ability. This is a significant fact. It obviously means that every boy, and girl too, for that matter, has an equal chance. Even though he may not make the basketball squad that does not deprive him of his chance for physical development. Innovation of physical education in the high school has eliminated that heart-sore.

It has always been a subject of dispute as to why my boy or your boy never had a chance to play in some sport. It has always been distasteful to the parent whose boy could not flaunt the colors of the school on the basketball court or gridiron. Parents are resentful, and rightfully too, that only a picked few received the opportunity of physical development through these games.

Not every boy has the physical makeup or ability to play basketball and football. But, through the mass competition idea and the organization of as many as 52 teams in the school each boy is given an equal chance to become a stronger and healthier lad.

A glance at the bulletin board of the high school brings the names of nearly 300 lads in the perspective view. Closer inspection reveals them playing as a unit under the name of states, or animals, or as national league teams. Then, too, farmer lads who would otherwise be deprived of the opportunity to play after school because of the necessity to go home and do the chores, have banded themselves in a league in which competition takes up the noon hour. A "big brother" movement has developed with the older boys taking charge of actual competition while instructors are busy on the physical education plan.

When 300 and more lads receive this attention isn't it worthy of note?

The citizenry of Brainerd and all who make up a contributing factor in maintenance of the high school should be elated over the opportunity their boys have today. They should be pleased with the prospects their boys have to develop into real men; physically fit and developed to a point where they will be able to go through life much better equipped for its hard knocks and reverses.

If you look at the playing of these 300 boys the same as this newspaper, it is obvious that you will enjoy a better feeling; a more secure sense of the worthwhile and profound sense of duty of those who guide the educational destinies of the youth of today.

SQUARE-RIGGER APPEAL--

One of the oddest developments of the winter is the discovery that there are hundreds of boys in the United States and Canada who would give almost anything to be able to go down to sea before the mast on a square-rigged sailing vessel.

There are still several square-riggers operating in the grain trade between Australia and England. A. J. Villiers, who owns one of them, has been trying to promote a race among these ships, and would like to get an American ship to take part also.

So far, however, he has had to spend about 75 per cent of his time answering letters from young men who would like to go along as seamen. From all parts of North America they have written to him, begging that they be signed on.

Some offer to pay for the privilege. College graduates have offered to sign on as cooks. Girls have threatened to become stowaways on the ships. All in all, it is obvious that the wind-jammer has an appeal which the steamship cannot possibly rival.

Now all of this is a bit puzzling, for there is no question that the steady disappearance of the sailing vessel has made life a whole lot easier for the sailors. The sailing ships were beautiful to look at, but life aboard was very often complete hell. The work was hard and the food was poor, dangers were many and living accommodations were, frequently, atrocious.

Discipline ranged all the way from merely strict to downright brutal. Read any of the books written by the sailor-writers, from Dana down through Conrad to Bone and Reisenberg, and you get a picture of a life that was almost unbelievably hard.

Now, after many centuries, that life has been largely relieved of its terrors. Steamship Jack is better paid, better housed, better fed and more decently treated than his predecessors ever were.

But the young men fall over themselves to get a taste of the hard old life and calmly ignore the pleasanter life of the steam-driven merchant marine!

The human race, evidently, does not mind hardship, danger and pain nearly as much as it likes to pretend.

AN INTERESTING EXPERIMENT--

One of the most interesting experiments of the year is being undertaken by a group of people in Pratt county, Kansas. These people have bought 100 bushels of wheat at a price of $1.25 a bushel—a long way above the market price, you will notice; and they have sent it to a milling company to be made into flour, after which a baker will turn it into bread which is to retail at the prevailing retail price.

How much will the organizers of this little stunt lose on each loaf of bread? Or will they, perchance, not lose anything at all? Will they even find it profitable to turn wheat into bread, at prevailing prices, when the wheat costs $1.25 a bushel?

The answers to those questions will be worth seeing.

WARRIORS LOSE CLOSE ONE TO AITKIN BUT SWAMP VALLEY CITY 21 TO 10

AITKIN GAINS WIDE MARGIN IN FIRST HALF OVER SECONDS

Retaining a safe lead, gained early in the tussle, the Warriors were all able to easily overcome a Pequot quint that proved very amusing. The count ended 42-13.

Smith, the freshman flash, was high point man with 12 points. Templeton and Swanson followed close at his heels with 9 and 8 points respectively.

The Pequot aggregation was completely outclassed and also under a heavy handicap because of the much larger gym. They were unable to penetrate the Warrior defense for more than one close shot, while the more experienced home fellows found little trouble in "breaking through" to score most of the points from under basket plays.

The outsiders, however, deserve much credit for their valiant efforts. They fought desperately and were not without glory, Crockett making 7 of the 13 points.

The box score follows:

Following this "workout" the entire squad toured to engage strong teams from Aitkin and Riverton. The first team and reserves went to the former while the seconds ended up at the latter. The evening proved to be disastrous to both Warrior teams. The seconds dropped their tussle 17-14 while the regulars were defeated 18-15.

There is little to be said about the Riverton tilt other than the home fellows were at a disadvantage on the smaller floor.

The Aitkin tilt was most exciting. Coach Dammann started the reserves and left them in until a few minutes before the end of the half. While they were in, only one field goal was made. It was a nice shot by Larson, guard. "Primo" Wygle's free throw left the score 11-3 at the half.

In the second chapter the fellows were fighting hard and by far outplaying the "easterners" but time took its toll. It is doubtful if Aitkin would have won if the game had lasted longer.

Few throws were missed. Nickander, Peterson and Gabiou each missed one.

The substitutions were: Brainerd; Gabiou for Garvey; Foster for Smith; G. Wygle for Swanson; B. Wygle for Templeton; Swanson for Foster; Aitkin; Spurior for Wikelius; Richardson for Nickander; Peterson for Wikelius; Nickander for Richardson.

With a victory over what is considered the strongest team in North Dakota, Brainerd's most strenuous cage week was culminated.

After being bitterly repulsed by a strong C. I. quint, the Valley City prodigies found themselves slowly but definitely being dragged down to defeat by the B. H. S. Warriors.

The first period found both teams fighting desperately. The advantage, however, went to the Warriors who played a much more serene game.

In the second quarter the invaders fighting desperately, came to the front to put themselves in the lead by one field goal. They repeatedly brought the ball within shooting range but were unable to successfully penetrate the Warrior defense. As a result they resorted to long shots but there were "turned back" too.

During the intermission at the half, the spectators were treated to thrills and stunts performed by the tumbling team, under the direction of Mr. Squire.

The final period showed a steady increase of the Brainerd lead. Coach

Dammann profitably substituted his men with ever encouraging results.	fg.	ft.	pf.	tps.

TUMBLING TEAM MAKES DEBUT AT AITKIN GAME FRI.

MR. SQUIER AND TEN TUMBLERS MAKE TRIP, PERFORMANCE PRAISED BY AITKIN CRITICS

Last Friday night the tumbling team made its first appearance away from home. The team performed at Aitkin armory between the halves of the Brainerd-Aitkin basketball game. The team was in good form, and in spite of a space handicap their stunts were accepted with much applause.

Mr. Squier's boys were especially well drilled in dives and roles although their pyramid work and flips were performed very well. The entire list of stunts are praise worthy.

Besides Mr. Squier there were ten boys that made the Aitkin trip. Lee Clarkson, Jude Knudsen, Lester Preston, Wm. Fisher, Don Hanson, Orville Olson, Art Van Valk, Walter Krue, Wm. Olson and Art Tutch making a team that is unusual because it is new.

There is a very great possibility of the tumblers going to other games out of town to perform. Practice will be resumed the middle of this week to endeavor to gain perfection in still more stunts.

A Walk in the Woods on a Winter Night

Standing alone in a white world,
All alone in a dark world;
Darkness above and around,
Whiteness of snow on the ground;
Under the quiet pines,
Stretching their arms to the sky,
Dark monarchs, sleeping content,
Snow laden branches low bent;
Dreaming of days gone by.

All alone in a dark world,
All alone in a white world,
Alone with the pines and the snow,
Alone with the ghosts that go,
The ghosts of deadened dreams,
That are dreamed by many on earth.
They creep by with lagging steps
To stay in the forest depths
Till the new young give them new birth.

All alone in a white world,
All alone in a dark world,
Whispering night as I walk,
Talking to ghosts as I talk
A half-human spectre it seems;
Spectre in flesh and will
Feeling the animal thrill
In doing things of their kind.

YE EDITOR

Again the Glee Clubs will not be able to produce an opera! Why? Because the male voices were inexperienced at the time the selection of an opera should have taken place. The Girls' Glee Clubs have decided to enter the State Musical Contest to complete their work while the Boys' Club is undecided on whether they shall enter the contest or work for an entertainment of their own choice. The boys' decision shall be left to themselves.

The work to Mr. Squier should be complimented as a successful enterprise. The Aitkin critics gave highly appreciative opinions of the tumblers' performance at the game last Friday.

Next week brings the dread semester examinations which will establish all half year averages and at the same time decide the fate of a few individuals who are very near the danger mark.

All students, without exceptions, will be compelled to take these examinations in an effort to find out the students' knowledge of the various subjects studied during the elapsed four and a half months—so why not start reviewing with your instructors now in preparation for the oncoming exams.

Cheers and Songs Give Enthusiasm to Team

A short snappy pep fest was held for five minutes Friday afternoon in preparation for the Aitkin game. It was opened by a few announcements by Coach Dammann. Next came the Brainerd high school song sung by the pupils with little response from them. Then the cheer leaders led the students in a few cheers. This was an unusual pep fest because of being held the first few minutes of the school afternoon. The students went to their respective classes much cheered up by the pep fest.

CAFETERIA, UNDER MANAGEMENT OF MISS FILK, OPEN TO STUDENTS

Skool Skandel

Alice Sewall and Bob Folsom seem to be inseparable, even at pep fests. Mr. Squier had to put three rows of desks between Lilyan Edstrom and Earl Bedore so that they might keep their minds on the class work.

Tommy Koeck has been wearing blinders lately. We hope it isn't serious.

Gene Swanson is a splendid example of the bigger they are the harder they fall.

Dot's Dash

Friendship is a treasure
Which we should hold and keep
For friends may give us many a laugh
And save us many a weep.

True friends stay through thick and thin

By the ones that they love best,
And no matter what the crisis
They all pull through the test.

They hold up your name through slander

They shelter your good reputation,
They tell everything good about you
Till you're considered the best in the nation.

Hypocrites are just the opposite
They take every chance they can get
To tell people all of your faults
That you're the worst they have met.

So when you get a chance to have
Some friends that are ever true
Keep them always by your side
They'll stop you from getting blue.

MICHIGAN HANDS GOPHEPS FIRST DEFEAT

Brainerd Builds For Future With 52 Cage Teams

WOLVERINES TAKE 30-25 TRIUMPH OVER MINNESOTA QUINT

NORTHWESTERN DEFEATS IOWA AND PURDUE TAKES WISCONSIN

Chicago, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Northwestern and Michigan continued their victorious marches in the Big Ten basketball race last night and were tied with Ohio State today for the lead.

Northwestern, defending champion, won its third straight game by defeating Iowa, 32-26. Michigan won its second game and handed Minnesota its first defeat, 30-25. Ohio State, which has won two games and lost none, was idle.

Purdue and Illinois moved into a tie for fourth place. Purdue defeated Wisconsin, 32-22, and Illinois won from Indiana, 30-22. The defeats virtually eliminated Wisconsin and Indiana from the race as it was the third straight loss for each.

Howard Moffitt, Iowa's sophomore forward, and Joe Reiff, Northwestern forward who led the conference in scoring last year, carried off high honors for the night. Moffitt made five field goals and three free throws and Reiff had six baskets and one free throw, each scoring 13 points.

Ray Eddy, Purdue forward, and Caslan Bennett, Illinois forward, tied for second high honors, each with 11 points.

The standing follows:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Northwestern	3	0	1.000
Michigan	2	0	1.000
Ohio State	2	0	1.000
Purdue	2	1	.667
Illinois	2	1	.667
Minnesota	1	1	.500
Chicago	0	2	.000
Wisconsin	0	3	.000
Indiana	0	3	.000

Last night's results:
Northwestern 32, Iowa 26.
Illinois 30, Indiana 22.
Michigan 30, Minnesota 25.
Purdue 32, Wisconsin 22.

FERRELL, WILSON, TERRY BEAT VANCE IN HOLDOUT RANKS

GIANTS COUNTER WITH TERRY'S PROPOSAL HE MUST SIGN OR NOT PLAY

New York, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Although the baseball holdout season is not considered officially opened until Dazzy Vance returns an unsigned contract and threatens to spend the rest of his life fishing, three major league stars have jumped the gun.

These three are Billy Terry, New York Giants first baseman; Rick Ferrell, who catches for the St. Louis Browns; and Hack Wilson, right now of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Terry's refusal to accept the Giants' terms came as no great surprise, for the man from Memphis has been refusing to fall in line ever since he began his major league career in 1925. The Giants, as usual, countered Terry's demand with the statement that he would sign according to the club terms or spend the summer in Memphis.

It will be remembered last year when Terry held out, Giant officials shrugged their shoulders and said, "Let Terry hold out of he wants to. We have Sam Leslie, as good or better player than Terry, to take his place." Later developments proved that Terry could hold an anvil under each arm and still show Leslie quite a few things about playing that first base.

Terry received $23,000 last season. The contract he returned unsigned to the Giants yesterday called for a reduction of approximately 40 per cent.

Wilson, whose contract with the Chicago Cubs last season called for $33,000, returned unsigned the $7,500 contract offered him for his services during 1932 by the Cardinals. A reduction of approximately 75 per cent was a little too much, even for him.

Ferrell, one of the coming catches, is not exactly a holdout. But he has come out in no uncertain terms with the statement that he will not accept the contract offered him by the Browns if it calls for a salary reduction of $2,000 as reported.

Golfers to Agua Caliente After Los Angeles Open

Los Angeles, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Laden with gold from the $7,500 Los Angeles open, those golfers who make the annual tour of the west coast money tournaments turned today to the Agua Caliente open, whose $15,000 purse is advertised as "the world's richest."

Most heavily burdened with cash was MacDonald Smith, formerly of Carnoustie, Scotland, and now of New York City. For the third time since it was inaugurated seven years ago, Smith won the Los Angeles event at the Hillcrest Country club yesterday.

For playing the 72 holes in 281 strokes, Smith received first prize of $2,000. Richly he deserved it, too, for he was three under par and four strokes ahead of his nearest competitor.

BRAINERD DEFENSE FIVE TRIP AITKIN

Despite the fact that the car transporting the coach, the center, and the forwards of the Brainerd Merchants' basketball team broke down before it got started for Aitkin last night, the five guards who did reach their destination defeated the Company B team 22 to 18.

Without regular forwards and center, the five sturdy defense men arrayed themselves in the form of a basketball team and romped over the redoubtable Aitkin squad.

Joe Fitzharris, who is tall enough to be a center though he plays a guard position, took over the center duties, ending the game high point man on either team with a total of three field goals.

Earl Fuller and Nate Schuety transformed themselves into forwards for the evening. Fuller getting two field goals and Schuety finding the hoop for one goal and three free throws.

Benny Foster and Captain Vern Marshall felt perfectly at home in their regular positions, and held down the Aitkin score in masterful style. In addition Foster found time to get two baskets of his own and Marshall capitalized on personal fouls, sinking three.

TEACH 'EM YOUNG PROGRAM WORRIES OPPOSING COACHES

DISTRICT PREPARES TO PRESENT BRAINERD DOMINATING FIELD

Basketball preparedness in Brainerd is assuming a stage unparalleled for a city this size in the state.

The organized strength of 52 teams with a potential membership of over 825 students, all secretly determined to win a letter on the varsity, has created no small concern in the minds of coaches of opposing high schools in the district.

What will happen to competition in the district if Brainerd by this advanced form of preparedness dominates the field?

This question is being asked by coaches and it has spurred them to adopt similar programs.

If the movement becomes district-wide it will have a tendency to produce the strongest basketball district in the state. Competition in the district is fast reaching this point.

Brainerd's excellent coach facilities, to be improved with the opening of the new junior high school next fall, plus fan interest in the game have installed basketball as the king sport of the city.

The program is one of enjoyment and health building for each player on the 52 teams.

Varsity members interest themselves in coaching teams of junior high school age.

The coaching staff includes physical education instructors and teachers, former basketball players in colleges.

Some of the Brainerd teams capitalized on personal fouls, sinking three.

RARDIN HITS MAPLES FOR 648 SINGLE AS E. M. B. A. SCORES 2834 PIN TOTAL

High scoring and close competition featured the pin clashes at Van's alleys last night, the E. M. B. A. moving into first place in the "A" league by defeating the Brainos two games and Byes forcing Petersons to remain in the cellar position. Byes won two games.

Eleven 200 pin counts were scored, Rardin holding honors with a three game count of 648 pins, topping Hanson's former high of 640 pins.

The E. M. B. A. five rolled a total of 2834 pins. In the E. M. B. A. Brainos match not one man went under 500 pins.

Van Essen rolled a total of 605 pins. Tonight's games find N. E. Brainerd and Alderman-Maghan pitted and the Mills Motor opposing the Mraz Candy.

Last night's scores follow:

E. M. B. A.—	Hagberg	Boyd	Rardin	Nelson	Hansen
	184	175	159	578	170
	170	158	203	531	183
	183	217	248	648	186
	186	194	172	552	157
	216	212	585
Total	880	960	994	2834

Many of these players will make strong bids for places on the varsity squad soon after entering high school. The Washington high school alone has 32 cage teams.

Eight teams are playing in a league known as States league, limited to players of weights, 115 to 132 pounds. Eight other teams are rivals for honors in the Animal league, consisting of players of junior high school age.

The National league cage race has four teams with players over 132 pounds.

There are 20 organized teams in the fifth, sixth and seventh grades.

Hockey Season to Break All Attendance Records

New York, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Attendance and gate receipts records throughout the National Hockey league probably will be broken this season, Col. John S. Hammond, president of the New York Rangers, said today.

He indicated that the league's total receipts for the season will be well above $3,000,000. Last year nearly $3,000,000 was taken in. And the attendance increase will be in proportion, he said.

THREE KINDS OF LOVE BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

© 1931, by Doubleday, Doran and Co.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANN, CECILY AND MARY FRANCES FENWICK live with the grandparents. The sisters have been orphaned since childhood. The grandparents—known as "BO-SALICE" and "GRAB"—have long since lost their wealth and the household is supported by "Ann" and Cecily's earnings. For this reason, Ann, 25, and PHILIP ECKHARD, young lawyer, are still postponing their marriage. For Cecily, 22, is in love with BARRY RECKELL, an engineer, but when he proposes she refuses to name the wedding date because she cannot leave Ann with the financial responsibility of the home.

Mary-Frances, 15, and still in school, strikes up an acquaintance with EARL DEARMOUNT, stock company actor. She meets him secretly on several occasions. Cecily tells Ann that Barry has proposed. Next morning he comes early to drive Cecily to her office. Again he urges Cecily to marry him at once.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIV

"No," Cecily said, "I don't like 'em revised."

"Yes, but you don't like my flights of fancy anyway, do you?" Barry asked.

"Love 'em. Lap 'em up and lick my lips. But I get so embarrassed I have to go dippant. Would you rather I didn't use a lipstick?"

"Golly, no. Not if you like it. You know better than I do about feminine fixings, and it isn't my business, anyhow."

"Would you like it if I'd let my hair grow a little longer? These boyish bobs are clear out, you know."

"I would not," he said. "I'd been thinking about letting it grow. It curls up when it's longer."

"Great! Sort of a shame to hide those fat little ears—but you'd know best about that."

"I've always wanted to wear earrings, but my family doesn't like them."

"Will you let me get you a pair for a present? What sort would you like?"

"Do you like earrings?"

"Abominate them—at least I do on other girls. I suppose they'd be swell in your ears, if you liked them."

"Not a bit difficult," he said. "But dumb. Very dumb. I came to meet you this morning—well, for every reason, of course; but chiefly to ask you a question. I haven't asked it yet."

"Sing softly," "I must be very wet, for I haven't asked it yet, dressed in my best suit of clothes. These aren't my best, you know. These are my Sunday. What was I talking about?"

"Nothing," said Cecily wickedly.

"There you go. That's the trouble. You throw me off. The moment I look at you I get swamped with joy—I'd no idea that being in love would be like this. But the minute I get away from you I go cold sober. And I can't even remember what happened. Now I know that last night I asked you to marry me. I have that down for certain. And I know that you wouldn't say when. But you did say you would, didn't you, sweet? It kept me awake all night. I could not remember what I'd said when I asked you, and I could not remember any time when you'd said, 'Yes.' Still, I reasoned that it must have happened in some sort of order, and that you couldn't have refused me, or I wouldn't have been too happy to use the bean at all."

SHE thought for a minute. "Barry, dear, you think that I'm right about my appearance and all that—you think that I know best. Won't you think that I know best about my—well, my inner self, too? Won't you wait for a while before we begin to talk about marrying—a month or so, at least? Won't you do that, dear, because that is what I wish."

He thought longer than a minute, much longer, before he answered: "I don't like it, Cecily, and I don't understand. Am I being put on probation—something of that sort. It would be prudent, of course. But I've a taste for impulse and—well, call it courage where love is concerned."

"Dear," she protested, "so have I. So have I."

He shook his head. "I don't understand. It seems to me that either you love me enough to say that you'll marry me or that you don't love me at all but might like a playmate for a few months to fill in. Only—darling, you aren't like that. No, you aren't like that."

"No," she said, with a definite stiffness. "I am not like that."

He was instantly penitent. "I know you aren't. I said you weren't. But—what is it, Cecily? Do you keep a little complex, too?"

"Perhaps. Though I think it is only a feeling—a prejudice maybe. I don't want to be 'engaged.' I'm afraid of long engagements. I think they are uncivilized—corruptive. I want to love and be loved—freely. And then some day, when it is raining a little, I want to go and be married, with none of the rest of it."

"When we are married" (she did not notice what she had said, as she pretended to be seriously involved with traffic worries, a stared straight in front of him as if he were a wall.)

"I want us both to be as much as such a preposterously stupid thing could have happened to us. I don't want us to be smugly satisfied because we've what we have been 'plodding' for so long. I'm p" be 'engaged.' I've seen Ann and Phil—" She stopped. She began again. "And—No. I'm tired of talking."

HE said, "The worst of it is, I like it," and dodged a charging taxicab.

She said, "H'm?"

"For a rabid realist," he explained, "to fall in love with a full-fledged romanticist is, I suppose, merely the dealing of an ironical justice. But for the realist to like it has to denote what I've been fearing—thorough inebriation. I want to tell you about Aunt Isabel and her cleaning woman—a big, bounding negress. Aunt Isabel's had her for years—she comes twice a week to clean house. A few weeks ago she formed the habit of going straight to the radio, as soon as she got her wraps off, and turning it on and keeping it going most of the day. Aunt Isabel is a grand sport, so she stood it for a couple of times or more; but last week she said, 'Susy, don't you think you could work faster if you'd stop bothering about the radio?'"

"Yes, ma'am," Susy said, 'yes, ma'am, I could work faster—but I couldn't put near the heart into it."

Cecily laughed, as she was supposed to laugh, before she said, "But I don't see the connection exactly—if at all."

"Of course you don't. There isn't any. I was changing the subject."

She pretended to accept it gratefully. "I know a nice one, too," she said, "about a little boy named James who ate all his Easter eggs."

But, when they had stopped in front of the building where her office was, and just before she got out of the car, she asked, "Is—is everything all right then, Barry?"

"All right! There's an answer, classical to that. You know it, don't you?"

She nodded, and with no more than a twinge of doubt she smiled and left him. At the door she turned, to nod and smile again; but he had driven along. He'd have to—he couldn't stay there, double parked, and block the traffic.

THE aging lady who wore the black lace hat with the purple etuias beneath the brim was not to blame. Laurence Hope's poetry had been highly recommended to her by a stoutish person whom she held in esteem and called "Boyo."

She had taken a red volume from the shelves of the public library, had dipped into it, had decided—for one reason or another—that it was not her, had risen hurriedly from her chair, and had left the book where she had pushed it.

It was a frightful mischance, that caused Mary-Frances to find the thing there. Agatu, for one reason or another, but probably because it rhymed so tidily straight through—"mine, wine, heights, nights, desire, fire, rest, breast," like that—and undoubtedly because it was silly and did not make sense to her, Mary-Frances decided that it was for her and had it charged out on her library card.

She chose a night in May, when the starlight smelled of all the neighborhood's pink roses, and a small new moon swam, smiling, on its back in the sky, to recite to Earl Dearmount—No matter. It is not worth quoting, and the child had not the faintest idea what she was talking about. Earl's response is the only thing of importance connected with that particular evening.

"Cripe!" said he, and, "Aw, gee, hon! Aw, gee—I don't know as you ought to rave like that. Frankie sure suits you for a name. Frank—see? And yet so pure and innocent and all. I ain't worthy to touch the soles of your feet—see? On the square I ain't. And yet, sometimes, you seem like a woman grown and other times like a little bittie—" he paused, fastidiously desirous for pertinency of diction—"cutie baby girlie, and I guess that's what's got me kind of going about you—see? And you feeling like you just said about me, and all, it seems kind of mean to go off and leave you, specially since I got no prospects in sight elsewhere at present date."

The Stephen G. Sperry Players after an unfortunate few weeks in the Hong Kong Moving Picture Theater, had been supplanted by the Crazy Crooning Combers, and "unable to make other satisfactory contracts, were resting indefinitely."

But for three breathless Friday nights Mary-Frances had gone with Empluride and Mr. and Mrs. Hill—heedless to mention the elder Hill's ignorance of plot, design, or motive—and had sat with pounding heart and parted lips and watched Earl moving about among people who were in the highest of high society. He was debonair, he was dautless with tea-colored decaunters; he opened doors for ladies who were going to night and country clubs; he rang for butlers; he did and said, in fact—if clumsily—all the things that the Reggies and Goofs and Ferdies always do and say in Mrs. Mayfairing's morning room, or Captain Starkweather's library, Time the Present. And Mary-Frances had an obedient memory and an energetic imagination.

"Oh, Earl," she now protested "I wouldn't come—tween you and your professional career—not for anything in the world. You'll just have to go. Duty calls you, and everything. But neither distance nor anything can part us, and we'll never, never forget; and, in time, we'll be reunited."
